The Kids Aren't Alright

"When we were young the future was so bright,
>The old neighboorhood was so alive,"
>Duo looks at a picture of himself riding a bike at about four

>"And every kid on the whole damn street,
Was gonna make it big and not be beat,"
>
Heero cocks his gun and shortly remembers a time where he just went to school and played.
>
"Now the neighboorhood's cracked and torn,
>The kids are grown up, but their lives are worn,
How can one, little street, swallow so many lives?"
>
Heero and Duo break into the building and shoot several guards, blood sputtering out of the wounds and them falling to the ground.

>
"Chances thrown,
>Nothing's free,
Longing for,
>What used to be,"
>Duo clicks a C4 onto the wall, runs and detonates it, while Heero goes through the hall and stains the wall with enemy blood and metal bullets.
>"Still, it's hard,
Hard to see,
>Fragile lives,
Shattered dreams,
>YOW!"
>"Alright, Dr. J has got to be around here somewhere. Duo, help me find him. He's got to pay for what he did to us," Heero said as he tossed his pistol aside and pulled an uzi out of his coat, firing it empty to take out the remaining guards, watching blood sputter everywhere.
>"Jamie had a chance, yeah she really did,
'Sted, she dropped out had a couple a kids,"

>
Heero tosses the gun aside, allowing Duo to come in with a bazooka, blowing away walls and blowing guards apart to watch the bones and guts go everywhere. "Well, well. Looks like we might have found him," he said, throwing the bazooka to the side.
>
"Mark stays at home, 'cause he's got no job,
>Just plays guitar, smokes alot of pot,"
>The two boys pull out uzis and take down the next door, revealing Dr. J and the rest of the doctors. "Time to die," they say as they squeeze the triggers and watch the doctors' blood splatter everywhere.
>"Jay committed suicide,"
>Heero smiled and emptied the uzi on his head as Duo watched the blood empty everywhere.
>"Brandon OD'd and died,"
>Duo took his own uzi, put it in his mouth and squeezed the trigger. BREHEHEHEHE! His brains splash against the walls.
>"What the hell is going on?"
>Relena opens a letter stained with blood that had been found in Heero's pocket, sentenced to be sent to her on the event of his death. "No, god no. Heero, why?"
>"The cruelest dream reality!
Chances blown,
>Nothin's free,
Longin for,
>What used to be,
Still it's hard,
>Hard to see,
Fragile lives,
>Shattered dreams,
YOW!"
>
Relena cries at the last sentences of the letter:
>"I'm sorry, Relena, to leave you alone like this. Ai shiteru."
